

MURDERER AND FORGER BREAK JAIL

SHERIFF LOCKED IN JAIL PRISONERS MADE ESCAPE

Woman Had Prison Delivery Stopped,
But Unlocked Gate—Lacy Beaten
Down—Man Hunt
Unsuccessful

Rosario Sainz, outlaw and murderer, and Alejo Macias, ex-convict and forger, both desperadoes, broke out of the felony ward of the county jail yesterday about 1 o'clock, locked Sheriff Theo. Lacy in the felony cells, armed themselves with two rifles and a revolver from the jail office, and escaped. They have not been caught.

No definite, certain word has been received of their whereabouts since fifteen or twenty minutes after the pair got out of jail. They disappeared in Yoch's walnut orchard on C street. They vanished. Roads in all directions were watched, and the groves were searched, but no trace of the fugitives was found.

The two Mexicans escaped from the jail as the sheriff was letting Miss M. Christine Kerl, missionary, from the ward, where she had conducted services. Struggling to hold the door against them, the sheriff checked the prisoners until Miss Kerl had locked an outer door. Fearing that the sheriff would be killed, Miss Kerl did the thing she ought not have done. She unlocked the door at the threat of Sainz. The two men beat down the sheriff, and left him and the woman prisoners. The sheriff was struck a dazing blow, but was not seriously hurt.

Reward Offered

Sheriff Lacy has offered a reward of $100 apiece for the capture of the men. They are in civilian clothes. Both men are known to be desperate and cold-blooded. Sainz has a reputation for taking wild chances, and he joys in bullets.

"Shoot Sainz on sight. Take no chances," were the instructions passed out by Deputy Sheriff Theo. Lacy, Jr., in the hunt yesterday.

With men scattered all over the country from Santa Ana to Tustin within a short time after the jail-break, with inquiries of every passing rig, the officers believe the men could not have gotten away before dark, that they hid in some of the thousands of trees between Washington avenue and the Santiago creek, east of the Southern Pacific. They may have remained here last night, seeking ammunition and food. Last night ranchers to the northeast were warned to watch their stables.

Almost every Sunday Miss M. Christine Kerl, head of the Spanish mission, holds services among the prisoners. Yesterday at 12:10 o'clock she appeared at the jail. Theo. Lacy, Jr. (Budge Lacy), the jailer, let her into the felony ward, which lies on the first floor directly west of the office and living rooms. The jailer turned the keys over to his father, Sheriff Lacy, and then went to the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. Young, on Hannah street, West Orange, for dinner.

Usually when the services are finished, one of the prisoners knocks on the door with a broom, to let the officer know that Miss Kerl is ready to go. For the first time, this call was made by one of the two Mexicans who escaped.

Miss Kerl was accompanied by a Spanish boy, Willie Rios, aged 10. Macias followed Miss Kerl toward the door, and asked her for a Spanish paper. She gave him a tract written in Spanish. She said goodbye to the prisoners, and as Sheriff Lacy opened the door, she backed out.

Seized Door

The sheriff was about to close the door, and, in fact, all but had the key turned when Sainz and Macias seized it. The door is of heavy steel grating, and offered a hold for the two men on the inside and the sheriff outside.

Lacy braced himself against the wall, and held on desperately. He called to Miss Kerl to lock the outside door, and though two men were against him, Lacy held the door against them until he heard the outside door slam and the key turned. Not until then did Lacy let go. In the meantime, Sainz had reached through and laid hold of the bunch of keys, and stripped the key from the lock.

Lacy let go the door, knowing the outside door was locked, and in an instant was struggling with Macias.

Miss Kerl, fearing that the sheriff would be killed, believing it was best to let the prisoners out, not knowing that the locking of the door was all on earth the sheriff wanted,

DESCRIPTIONS OF SAINZ AND MACIAS AND WHO THEY ARE

Rosario Sainz and Alejo Macias, who escaped from the county jail, were awaiting trial, Sainz for the murder of Jose Machado on the Sunset Beach mesa on Sept. 23, 1909, Macias for forging a check passed upon Turner's Shoe Store on Aug. 23.

Of the two, Sainz is the worst. He is known from Ensenada to Los Angeles as a gun-man, quarrelsome, anxious for fight, deadly with his gun, a beater of women, smuggler of Chinese, lover of drink, with an occasional hold-up thrown in for good measure.

Sainz is also known as Sainz, and among Mexicans he is called Zarco or Sarco. That word in Spanish stands for wall-eyed, or the blue-eyed, as applied to a horse. Sainz is blue-eyed, a feature most marking him, a Mexican.

Macias is known as Edwardo or Ed Macias. Under the name of Edwardo Macias, he was sent to San Quentin from Los Angeles for grand larceny in November, 1903, serving two years.

A Bad Hombre

Zarco Sainz is a bad hombre from the word go, and has been for fourteen years or more. He was raised at Anaheim, talks and writes good English. His mother, an Indian woman, still lives at Anaheim. When about twenty years old, Sainz attacked a woman at Anaheim, and when she resisted him he struck her down with a gun, and fled to Mexico. For a while he was a gendarme at Ensenada. There he struck down a woman, and, leaving, robbed a stage. He took to smuggling Chinese and goods. He used every trail of the California border. At Tia Juana he is credited with killing three or four men in brawls. His temper flies up like a torch, and he shoots.

In a Mexican sheep-camp at Rincon about four years ago he killed a man, and was acquitted. After killing Jose Machado at Santos Carrisosa's sheep-camp, he made his way to Mexico. There is every reason to believe that Machado was an innocent victim. Shooting from the dark, Sainz struck him with a bullet intended either for Carrisosa or Valenzuela.

Sainz was arrested in Ensenada last spring, and was placed in jail here by Officer Cervantes, on June 14. The Ensenada officers feared him, and took him from jail with gendarmes pressing bayonets against him.

Sainz is long-armed, blue-eyed, about 5 feet 10 or 11 inches tall, weighs 165 to 170 pounds, medium complexion, scars on bridge of the nose and near left eye. He wore a black hat and black clothes. He is active, has a drooping black mustache, shows his white teeth when grinning. Four years ago Sainz registered as a voter at Anaheim, giving his age as 30.

Bad Man, Too

Alejo Macias has a bad record. Four years ago he quarreled with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Joe Cardenas, at El Modena, and slashed her right cheek open with a knife. He took to Mexico, returning recently. He was arrested August 23, after passing bad checks here and at Anaheim.

His prison record shows his number to have been 5466. His face, breast, back, shoulders, and lower limbs are small-pox marked. He has high cheek bones. His principal identification mark is a big black mole on his left cheek. He has a small curved scar on his left index finger, and an oblique scar on his right forearm, in front and below the elbow join an inch and a half. He has a small scar at the outer angle of the right eye. He has high cheek bones, is 5 feet 5 or 6 inches tall, aged 30; is short and heavy-set. He was raised about El Modena, and has worked on Modjeska's ranch.

ELY IN HARD LUCK IN 1000-MILE FLIGHT

Meets With Two Accidents
Within 9 Miles of Chicago on Way to New York

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Aviator George Ely, flying from Chicago to New York, met with a second accident when he ascended this morning from Beverly golf links. The car struck the ground forcibly but the aviator was unhurt. He planned to resume his flight at noon.

Ely made but nine miles of the 1000 mile flight yesterday, being forced by a broken carburetor to descend at Beverly station, after starting from Hawthorne race track in the presence of 10,000 people.

The top of the special train that will accompany the man-bird to the eastern metropolis is painted white and will serve as a guide to the one entrant who will attempt to break the world's record for a continuous flight.

THIRD ATTEMPT AT TRIP UNSUCCESSFUL

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Although it has been twenty-four hours since Ely began the trip, he is still in the city limits at noon. When attempting to resume his flight the third time, his engine went dead. He is unable to predict when he will resume the trip.

PORTUGAL IN WILD SCENES OF RIOTING

MADRID (via Hundayed), Oct. 10.—The Republican government today mobilized its first reserves. It is believed this was done to test the loyalty of the army, the Republicans claiming the army will be with the rebels when any clash comes.

With increasing internal turbulence and the activity of outside revolutionary agents who have smuggled arms into Barcelona and towns on the French border, the government is becoming more repressive in its measures. The leaders admit today that a general uprising is imminent.

UNCONTROLLED MOBS

SLAY PRIESTS AND NUNS
LISBON, Oct. 10.—The arrest of monks and nuns was continued today, accompanied by looting and sacrilege by uncontrolled mobs. The Republican agents are unable to stop the looting. The priests and nuns, it is reported, are being subjected to indignities, and many are said to have been slain. Cardinal Netto, a former patriarch of Lisbon and Bishop of Devasconcellos of Beja, have been escorted across the Spanish frontier.

It is expected Mayor Alexander will take the offer to the employers.

FOREST FIRES BLAZE IN CANADA AND MINNESOTA

Hundreds Perish and 2000 are Missing
In Zone of Fire Destroying
Millions of Dollars
In Property

WINNIPEG, Oct. 10.—Seven towns, Beaudette, Spooner, Graceton, Pielt, Cedar Spur, Swift and Roosevelt have been destroyed by forest fires. Five hundred are reported as dead. The list of fatalities may reach a thousand, according to experienced foresters. The property and timber loss will reach into millions of dollars.

ESTIMATE OF DEAD

TOO CONSERVATIVE

WINNIPEG, Oct. 10.—The first Canadian Northern train since several days ago arrived, bringing General Superintendent J. K. Cameron, who says the estimate of five hundred dead is too conservative. It will be months before the list of dead can be accurately computed.

CITY OF WINNIPEG

NOW THREATENED

WINNIPEG, Oct. 10.—Prairie fires starting at noon are now burning fiercely within eight miles of Winnipeg threatening the city. The inhabitants are thoroughly frightened.

The village of Loretto, seven miles from Winnipeg, is in the path of a great wall of flame estimated as eight miles long. The inhabitants are fleeing toward Winnipeg. Fire fighters are being sent out from here. The wind is blowing a gale and the situation is growing worse each minute.

VAST NUMBER OF

PEOPLE ARE MISSING

RAINY RIVER, Ont., Oct. 10.—Seventy are dead and two thousand are missing as a result of forest fires sweeping over Ontario, and Northern Minnesota. Frantic appeals for help are coming from the fire-swept districts. Around Beaudette sixty bodies have been recovered, according to a canvass today. Estimates of the total dead range from two hundred to five hundred. The majority of the missing are supposed to have taken refuge in isolated villages, but can not be reached by wire. The towns of Warrowi and Sprague in Minnesota, are threatened with destruction. The forest fires are within seven miles of Warrowi, and twenty miles of Sprague. The Canadian Northern railroad has dispatched special trains bearing fire apparatus and fighters toward Warrowi.

The total property loss is estimated at $2,000,000.

One searching party returned this morning bringing the bodies of the Boten family, father, mother and seven children. They had fled but a short distance from their home, when they were overtaken by the fire.

Two members of the Iowa Homestead Colony have been recovered. The bodies were unrecognizable. Scores of missing were found during the day.

HUNDRED MISSING

FROM BEAUDETTE

At least one hundred residents of Beaudette are unaccounted for this afternoon. Many homesteaders in that district are missing and it is feared they have perished. Physicians are going to the stricken town from many of the villages.

VAST TERRITORY BURNED

AND FIRES SPREADING

WARROWI, Minn., Oct. 10.—Couriers this afternoon reported that Graceton, Swift, Roosevelt and Cedar spur had been destroyed with a great loss of life, by the forest fires now rushing upon Warrowi from the southwest. It is predicted this afternoon that the death toll will reach 750. Couriers report that scores of lumbermen were caught between the villages, and their bodies will probably be recovered.

FIFTY-ONE MINERS ARE ENTOMBED IN COLORADO MINE BY GAS EXPLOSION

TRINIDAD, Col., Oct. 10.—Fifty-one miners are imprisoned in a living tomb at Starkville today with apparently no hope of their rescue.

Workers toiled all night in the glare of acetylene torches and electric lights. The rescuers were compelled to flee several times to save their own lives because of the accumulations of gas. The main tunnel fills with gas repeatedly, despite the frequent trips of a motor car equipped with a huge electric fan. Grief-stricken women who maintained a watch all night are hopeless today.

Working with the electric fan the rescuers this afternoon approached within a mile of where the men are entombed. State Mine Inspector Jones said that he expects to reach the prisoners before night.

"They still have a good chance to be alive," he said. "There are many crosscut passages and airways where they could take refuge. I have not given up hope."

Anita Gonzales, the wife of one of the imprisoned men carried her infant too close to a live wire. The child grasped it and was electrocuted. The mother went insane.

C. L. Roberts, representing the federal Mining Bureau arrived today. It is reported the coal companies a week ago refused to furnish a site for a federal rescue station.

EXPLOSION OCCURRED

LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

STARKVILLE, Colo., Oct. 10.—The fifty-two miners are entrapped in the Starkville mine as a result of a mysterious explosion Saturday night at 10:50, which was of such terrific volume as to shake the earth for seven miles. The Starkville mine belongs to the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, and its ramifications are vast. James Wilson, the camp superintendent, was sick in bed when he heard the noise of the explosion, and he immediately arose and went to the mouth of the pit, organizing and leading the first rescue party into the mine as far as they could go, but the party was driven back by the terrible gases.

With gunnysacking spread on a greasy floor and tables ready, the coroner of Las Animas county sits in a grimy machine shop, awaiting the pitiful procession that must sooner or later come filing out of the dim hole in the hillside not far away.

SOIL CONVENTION
HELP TO FARMERS

"Back to the Farm" Movement
Gets a Fresh Impetus
Through Discussion

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—Another impetus was given to the "Back to the Farm" movement in the discussion of facts and figures as to the liberality of nature before the soil convention that closed Friday last. It was the closing day of a gathering that had done much for the farmers in the way of suggesting aids to getting richest results out of ground under cultivation.

The convention considered itself lucky in having met here at the same time with the bankers, for their work has given the farmers a clearer idea of what tilling of the soil means to the prosperity of the nation.

The convention also pledged itself to secure more liberal state appropriations for the investigation of soil along scientific lines. A state laboratory for the analysis of soils was also recommended.

Irrigation Injures Soil

The decadence of orange groves was discussed by Dr. King, who said that trees were like individuals and affected by changes of environment. He declared that continued irrigation formed a hard pan that changed the chemical constituents of the soil and that constant care must be exercised to keep the soil in the best possible condition for the encouragement of plant life.

Dr. Lipman also declared continued irrigation would make a difference in the development of bacteria favorable to plant life and that the successful tiller would have to keep close watch over the changing conditions. He especially advised against too much nitrate of soda, which is a powerful fertilizing agent.

but like garlic in a salad it has to be used by a master hand and sparingly.

Liberate Too Much Food

He stated that bacteria thrive best in alkaline soils, but in some cases might liberate too much plant food so as to produce abnormalities of growth that would spoil the product.

The convention was the most successful ever held and the close attention given by the practical farmer delegates shows how interested the scientific soil tiller of today is in getting best results from the least acreage.

REGIMENT CHIEFS

Fine Program Given at Smoker and Camp Fire—Company
Praised for Loyalty

CAMP ATASCADERO, Cal., Oct. 7.

Last evening the officers and members of Co. L gave the officers of the 7th Regiment a smoker and camp fire. A great time was made out of the occasion by all those present. This will testify to the fact the boys of Company L are all in good health and enjoying themselves. Singing by Company L's quartette was one of the main attractions of the evening.

Colonel Schrieber gave an address on the "Sanitation of Military Camps" and in conclusion praised Co. L officers and guardsmen very greatly on the loyal showing that they had made in leaving Santa Ana in the face of the big celebration on that day.

The next on the program was an instrumental solo by Private George Wilson which was greatly appreciated.

The Shelter-Half contest was a tie race, Privates Sheffield, Richards, Ketcher and Long were contestants. Following a talk by the chaplain, who told a few short stories, was a three-legged race, won by Privates Roger and Shaw. McPhee and Sheffield were the defeated ones.

The feature of the program was the "Two Old Campaigners" by Sergeants Eckman and McGuire, the two men making a great hit with the audience. At this point refreshments of cornucopias and soda pop were served, after which a farewell number was sung by the quartette. The closing feature of the event was a collection for the "Times" sufferers, $25.25 being given by Co. L boys.

How many aches and pains caused by weaknesses and falling, or other displacement, of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headache, dizziness, imaginary specks or dark spots floating before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness. If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of cures. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthener ever known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle wrapper and attested under oath as correct.

Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills.

You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy or known composition, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for.

Interest Your Boy in Music

"There once lived a boy," says Constance Osborn in Woman's Home Companion for October, "in a family where three members had gained musical recognition, who grew to be nineteen, without evincing any interest in the refining art, beyond a mild pride in his relatives' achievements. Golden opportunities to take lessons on the already much-abused piano had been tossed aside. Then he went away to college, and one evening dropped in at orchestra rehearsal. It chanced on that fateful night that the student who played the snare drum was absent, and the boy was asked to try his hand. In a moment he found himself in the center of rising, vibrating tones and melodies, he himself a vital part, endeavoring to mark their rhythm and swell their volume, and his own heart swelled in response. From then on he became the most enthusiastic member of the orchestra. He began to board himself in drumming, and he washed his socks and handkerchiefs to buy a metronome. "The family heard of these rumors with amusement and awaited his homecoming with some consternation. In due time he arrived and practiced drumming in the attic, and, moreover, taught a younger brother all he knew. He, in turn, became drummer in the high school orchestra, but soon the boy's fancy took a melodic flight and he became the owner of a clarinet. The younger brother began to throw longing eyes on the 'cello, procured one and in a short time the clarinet and 'cello began to sing duets in the attic, and later, trios with the piano, in the parlor, for company. "Now these boys did not grow up and become renowned musicians, but they acquired a proficiency that enabled them to play with pleasure for themselves and others. Through their awakened interest and understanding of music, they gained one of life's greatest assets, from a very small and unusual beginning."

SOLEMN RITES FOR THE "TIMES" DEAD

Rev. Burdette Gave the Funeral Sermon in Presence of Thousands

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—The funeral services over the unidentified dead recovered from the Times building was held in the Temple Auditorium yesterday afternoon. Five thousand men and women gathered to pay a last tribute to the men who lost their lives in the disaster. Sixteen bereaved families heard words of sympathy and the story of the heroism of the dead and how no woman, lost in the building ODN UNU NU though many were endangered, was lost in the building.

A floral replica of the Times building stood on the center of the stage and on either side were ranged fourteen unnamed gray caskets banked with flowers. Flags and flowers occupied the background.

The service was tragic and impressive. A magnificent sermon was preached by Rev. Robert J. Burdette, pastor emeritus of Temple Baptist church. Rev. W. Allison, pastor of the Sunset Hills Presbyterian church, of which Eugene Carress, one of the victims, was an elder, voiced the invocation. The Orpheus Club, directed by Joseph P. Dupuy, sang "The Lost Chord," and Rev. Dana Bartlett read from Samuel 1:17-27, the eulogy of David for Saul and Jonathan. Prayer by Rev. C. C. Pierce, pastor of the Memorial Baptist church, the singing of a hymn, "Good Night," by Jackson S. Gregg and Mrs. Aroline Ellis Bacon, and benediction by Dr. Hugh K. Walker, closed the service. 102 pall bearers, employees of the Times, carried the caskets to the waiting funeral cars. These were led to and from the cemetery by General Otis, Harry Chandler and Harry Andrews.

While the Hollywood chimes tolled the soft notes of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," fourteen unnamed caskets were lowered into graves at the Hollywood Cemetery after the funeral service in the Auditorium. The simple service at the cemetery was conducted by Revs. Allison and Dana Bartlett, the Twenty-third Psalm and a prayer being the elements of the service. Two unidentified men yet rest in the Times ruins, and they will be buried with their mates when found.

IMPERIAL, Oct. 10.—The most important development in the town of Imperial is the letting of a contract for the erection of a cotton gin at once, the machinery being already on the way. Imperial has better than 2000 acres of cotton in her tributary territory, the cotton land lying in the Mesquite Basin, water districts Nos. 8 and 12, and the north end of No. 5. Some of the finest cotton in the valley will be ginned in this town. The gin is to be a four-stand machine and is to be operated by a Texas cotton ginner of twenty years' experience. This man is already on his way to Imperial with a force of men to assist in installing the machinery and operating it for the coming season.

The Story of the Short Ball

A Series of Articles on the New Commission Municipal Government

By RICHARD S. CHILDS

II.

The Success of the Commission

IT is no easy matter to prove conclusively and in true scientific fashion that one city is better governed than another. Nevertheless, despite the difficulty of making comparisons, there is nothing more certain than the fact that, whether the commission form of government is the ideal form or not, it is better than the forms of government which preceded it in the various cities.

The total list of cities which now have the commission form of government numbers sixty-eight. Many others have voted in favor of it and are waiting for legislative action. Of these sixty-eight, however, many are of very small size. Some of them, in fact, are mere villages and do not present the problems that a city does. Adopting 25,000 as a minimum population for a true city, the list runs as follows:

Massachusetts—Gloucester, Haverhill, Tennessee—Memphis, Iowa—Burlington, Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Sioux City, Kansas—Leavenworth, Wichita, Topeka, Missouri—St. Joseph, Texas—Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, Waco, Of these seventeen cities nine have had the plan in actual operation so short a time—a year or less—that accurate comparison of the results of the new regime as compared with the old is not yet possible. All reliable testimony regarding the commission plan must therefore be based on the remaining eight cities.

Brief as the trial has been, the evidence nevertheless is startling. In every one of these cities there had been waste, some corruption and much inefficiency. In all of them party machines had been in complete control and had been maintained in running order at the public expense through political favoritism in the making of appointments. How much the "gangs" cost the cities was revealed when the government passed into the hands of men who, having obtained office without the help of the "gangs," could afford to ignore them.

Galveston's experience has already been described. Gloucester—Commission plan in effect 1909. The first year's report showed all bills paid and a reduction in the city debt of $18,000. It is claimed that the roads and streets have been better kept at $6,000 less annual expense. The city bookkeeping has been reformed, and the commissioners point to a reduction in the expense of caring for public property. It is still too early to demand much in the way of tangible results.

Haverhill—Commission plan in effect in 1909. The first year's report under the new plan showed a saving of $97,900 in running expenses. When the commission took hold the financial status of the city was very bad. It had reached both its debt limit and tax rate limit and was steadily falling behind in its payments. Appeals were being made to the legislature for an extension of the tax rate limit, but this extension has now become unnecessary. In addition the city has voted no license, the revenue from the saloons being no longer needed. The commission has been fighting a big battle against the gas and electric light monopolies to obtain lower rates for the city and for private consumers, and has obtained from the people permission to resort to municipal ownership if necessary. There was fierce political opposition to the commission at the expiration of its first term, but it was re-elected. Party lines in Haverhill, which was formerly a Republican city, have been completely broken. The commission consists of two Democrats, two Republicans and a Socialist.

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Commission plan in effect in 1908. The commission has reduced the tax rate and the debt, while making certain big improvements, such as the acquisition of a big island in the river, out of current expenses instead of bond issues. The island is for municipal buildings in a handsome park setting, in accordance with a "city beautiful" plan devised by an expert. The police and fire department forces have been enlarged despite the reduced tax rate.

Des Moines, Ia.—Commission plan in effect in 1907. In its first year the commission saved $134,000 in running expenses, as compared with the previous year under the old government. It made better bargains for the city in electric light charges, obtained interest on city deposits for the first time, cleaned streets and alleys better, (the alleys had formerly not been cleaned at all) and wiped out the "red light district," the effect of which has since been shown in reduced crime. A system of periodical fines which were practically licenses levied in this district formerly brought in a huge yearly revenue and the financial results above noted were obtained despite the ceasing of this illegal income.

Leavenworth, Kan.—Commission plan in effect in 1908. The commission has reduced the bonded indebtedness by $112,950, while the tax rate has remained stationary. Kansas is a prohibition state, but Leavenworth had always defied the law, and the saloons to exist, so the fines which brought the commission into existence were not disturbed. The tax rate was 0.000 was spent in special assessments the first year as against $25,000 in previous years. Two years under the commission the city has saved twelve miles in the five years.

Dallas, Tex.—Commission in effect 1907. In its first year the commission wiped out $200,000 and established a new term of the commission by 3,700 voters was much enthusiasm as commissioners all to run for chamber of commerce commission government feature of the city industries.

Summary of the New Fashion Features

"For the fall and winter wardrobe Lady Fashion has put her seal of approval upon the short coat and the scant, plain skirt," says Grace Margaret Gould in Woman's Home Companion for October. "She also favors the one-piece coat dress for autumn wear, and whatever the color of the fabric, she recommends a touch of black in the way of satin cordings or braid.

"She likes the deep sailor collar and she suggests trimming it with either fur or moire bands.

"She says, 'Let the high waistline be the vogue and use shirtings wherever you care to as a trimming.' "She has nodded her head in favor of the collarless neck, but she kindly says, 'Don't wear it if it is unbecoming.'

"Sleeves are long or short, according to the type of gown, but always they are small.

"The peasant waist with the sleeve cut in one with the bodice continues to be fashionable.

"Flat, deep lingerie collars, decidedly quaint looking, will be worn with many of the smartest autumn dresses.

"The most modish evening wraps are of black chiffon over a brilliant color. Royal blue and black in combination are much liked. All the wraps are cut on slender lines.

"Though velvets, brocades and matelasses are in favor for evening costumes, yet the transparent fabrics are just as much in style. The veiled effect knows no abating.

"The matching blouse of chiffon or marquisette continues to be the proper waist to wear with the coat-and-skirt suit."

BISBEE, Ariz., Oct. 10.—Mexican officials have announced at Cananea that the old Santa Teresa gold mine, one of the few actually lost mines, has been discovered. It has been found near Curcurul, Sonora, Mexico. A vaquero employed on the Curcurul ranch, while riding over the country suddenly felt the earth give way under his horse and in the next instant he found himself and the animal partly in a hole. He noticed an abandoned quince orchard near by. An investigation was made and searchers are convinced that the hole was the shaft of the famous old mine.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—"I am absolutely certain there was no padding of the census returns from the Pacific coast," said Census Director Durand today. CHIEF MOORE IS ACCUSED

Moore of the Weather Bureau is charged with gross mismanagement of his bureau and favoritism to subordinates, by James Berry, a former division chief in the Weather Bureau service. SHOOTING OF SHERIFF BY NEGRO MAY CAUSE RACE WAR

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 10.—Race feeling ran high here last night, and in Dawson, a mining town near here, as the result of the shooting and probable fatal wounding of Deputy Sheriff Charles Stanton, white, by one of four negroes whom he had ordered to stop shooting craps. A sheriff's posse chased the blacks across country for eight miles, capturing all four. A mob gathered and to avoid a lynching at Dawson that was imminent, Sheriff Newblock brought the negroes to the county jail here. The authorities fear an open conflict in the mining town between whites and blacks.

A SIMPLE QUESTION

Santa Ana People Are Request-to Honestly Answer
This

—Is not the word of a representative citizen of Santa Ana more convincing than the doubtful utterances of people living everywhere else in the Union? Read this:

E. O. McKinney, 824 East Third street, Santa Ana, Cal., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were especially suited to my case and in view of my experience, I am glad to recommend them. For a year and a half I suffered from pain in my sides and over my right kidney. It was a throbbing or beating pain and it seemed as if a knife were being thrust into me. I thought that the trouble was caused by heavy lifting but I was unable to get relief from the remedies I took. Acting on the suggestion of a party who had used Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Dean's Drug Store. Finding relief from their use, I continued taking them and it was not long before the pain had ceased. The passages of the kidney secretions were also regulated and my kidneys were restored to a normal condition. I have had no symptoms of kidney complaint since and therefore feel justified in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."

FAST GOING BY NIKRENT

Races Saturday Afternoon Produced Some Good Races—
Locals Get In

The automobile races drew a big crowd to the racetrack.

The first event, a five-mile race between three Hupmobiles, all driven by local men, was won by John Tubbs, time 6:56, Wm. McCulloch finishing a close second.

The second event, a ten-mile motorcycle race, was won by an Indian machine ridden by Readman.

The third number was an auto race of 25 miles between a Maxwell driven by Clarence Smith and a Durocar driven by Joe McKeague. The Maxwell won, time 27:55. The Durocar showed wonderful speed and endurance and made a friend of everyone who saw the race.

The fourth event, the most spectacular of all, was a five mile run against time by a Knox, Joe Nikrent driver. The time made was 4:48 4-5, the fastest mile being made in 57.

The last number on the program was a five mile race between three Brush machines, time made being 10:02, fastest mile, 1:69.

Among the spectators was R. P. Hillman of Los Angeles, official Pacific coast representative of A. A. A.

Reo Breaks the Record from New York to San Francisco—What This Means to You.

The previous record was 15 days, 2 hours, 12 minutes, and it was a good one. It has stood three years in spite of many efforts to break it; for the speed required over all sorts of roads—and much of the way nothing but "desert tracks"—make the trip the severest possible accelerated test of endurance.

But at last the Reo tried it and smashed the record all to pieces—beat it by 4 days, 10 hours, 59 minutes, and beat it fairly and squarely. The Reo record is 10 days, 15 hours, 13 minutes.

Come, let us show you more about this wonderful car.

SHERIFF LOCKED IN JAIL PRISONERS MADE THEIR ESCAPE

was ordered by Sainz to open the door. Miss Kerl said she opened it thinking that was the only way to save Lacy's life.

Sainz rushed out, and seized Miss Kerl at the telephone, and when she tried to rush out of doors he shoved her through the office and through the felony ward door, where Lacy and Macias were locked in each other's arms.

Jumps Like Wildcat

Sainz flung the woman clear beyond them as easily as he would fling a baby, and like a wildcat he jumped upon Lacy. He struck Lacy on the right side of the face with his fist, or kicked him.

Dazed, and overpowered by the two men, Lacy was forced to let go Macias. Quick as lightning, the desperadoes jumped outside the door and locked it.

Macias ran to the living-room to the right, the south side, and Sainz to the dining-room to the left, the north, where the telephones are situated.

Macias found two rifles, one belonging to the county and the other to Jailer Lacy, and a revolver belonging to Sheriff Lacy. Macias called to Sainz, handed him a rifle in a cover and himself kept a rifle and the revolver. They dashed out of the jail.

They found two bicycles, one Miss Kerl's and the other the Rios boys'. Sainz jumped on the woman's, and the two rode north on Sycamore. Macias could not manage the boy's small bicycle, and abandoned it. Sainz, who had sped ahead, stopped, dropped the bicycle, and stripped the cover from the rifle. Both men rushed to the sidewalk beside the building at the southeast corner of Church and Sycamore, and worked the levers of the rifles and found them empty. Sainz examined the revolver. It had five cartridges in it.

Sainz, at all times the energetic leader, grabbed Macias by the arm, and the two ran afoot across Church street, across Main, and to the corner of Eighth and Main, the big bunch of jail keys jangling at Sainz's arm. As they ran east on Eighth, Sainz threw the keys over the fence of J. J. Morse's yard.

Gun Held On Him

At the corner of Eighth and Bush they seized bicycles belonging to L. H. and Miss Lottie Padgham. Macias carrying a rifle and drawn revolver, was slow getting started.

Padgham ran out, and thinking the men were bicycle thieves only, ran in the face of Macias's rifle, and by yelling scared him away. Sainz was around Spurgeon street corner on Miss Padgham's wheel. Finding that Macias was afoot, Sainz deserted the bicycle at the curb. Padgham was following on his bicycle as the men ran. Approaching too close, Macias got a bead on him with the revolver, and yelled: "Damn you, go back. I'll get you."

The pair ran to the corner of Washington avenue and French street, and got on bicycles belonging to the Opp brothers. They proceeded east. Evidently deciding to get off the road, Padgham following on his bicycle, the two Mexicans took to the walnut orchard east of the Southern Pacific.

The last seen of the two men was as they rounded a green unoccupied house at 1322 C street. A Spanish boy saw them at that point.

In the meantime, W. W. Anderson having seen the two men go by his place on Church street, ran to the jail, where he heard cries for help. With Anderson was Dr. Fletcher. They found Sheriff Lacy and Miss Kerl locked in, and the keys gone.

The Hunt Begun

Anderson telephoned to the city police headquarters, to "Budge" Lacy in West Orange, for an automobile and for Deputy Sheriff Wilson.

City Marshal Edwards, armed with a revolver, and Special Officer P. B. Glover, armed with a rifle, ran onto the street, and stopped the first automobile they saw. It was driven by Stockford Wheaton.

Edwards explained the need as the auto sped out North Main street, and all records for speed were broken from the middle of town to the corner of C and Washington. There the men were told that the last seen of the Mexicans was when they were cutting across toward the corner of Seventeenth and the Santa Fe. To that point the two officers were rushed. Looking through the walnut orchards they saw no one. There was a deserted brick house close by, with but one door. "Circling it, Edwards shoved his head inside and saw no one.

Leaving the two men afoot, believing that the prisoners could not have gone further, Wheaton sped back to Santa Ana for help.

Deputies were getting arms from John McFadden's hardware store. In Wheaton's automobile "Budge" Lacy, Otto Jacobs and T. E. Stephenson went out, in Ike Fields's, Deputy Wilson and Chas. Johnson. In the meantime Dunlap Wilson and F. W. Opp, the latter armed with a rifle, had begun searching in the circle just outside that covered by Edwards and Glover.

"Budge" Lacy covered Tustin avenue at the creek, and later had men distributed along that avenue. Every rig was stopped and inquiries made. W. Everett stood guard.

City Marshal Jernigan of Orange was taken up in Wheaton's automobile, and Edwards, Glover, Jernigan and others made a partial search in the portion of the Spanish quarter nearest Washington avenue.

False Report

One of the residents near C street saw Wheaton's automobile and his officers and in his excitement telephoned to the sheriff's office that Sainz and Macias had held up an automobile and had gone away in that. That false report probably was the salvation of the smuggler and convict Officer J. W. Murray, Frambes and H. J. Forgy, armed with rifles, sped to Anaheim, Fullerton and back to El Modena, before they found the report was unfounded. Officer S. P. Hamilton with Cartwright, Carter and Hannah likewise sought the outside districts. Officer Cervantes, Nimmo, Officer Boynton and Hannah in Buchheim's auto went to El Toro. Had they concentrated on a close-in search the desperadoes might have been rounded up. As it was there was too much country to cover.

A. K. Cravath, Ben Nimmo, Cartmel and Constable Jackson on horseback, began searching by 3 o'clock.

It is believed the men hid in a tree until dusk, then got away. Hunting for tracks in the orchards proved fruitless.

A report came in that two Mexicans carrying rifles had been seen in an open buggy going through Tustin toward the south. Marshal Edwards and George Young in Wheaton's automobile sped as far as El Toro, but saw nothing.

During the night outlying places were covered, and the search continued. The jail office was a busy place all night long.

Looked Reliable

About 9 o'clock there came a report to the office that made things look as though the prisoners were headed up the Santiago Canyon. A. Heffner of Olinda, and Miss Una Boynton, daughter of Officer Boynton, were returning from the canyon in an automobile about an hour after dark. On the El Modena grade they met a Mexican on horseback. They did not see him well. Behind him, afoot, going up the grade, shoving a bicycle with a gun across the bars, was another Mexican. The auto lights were full on him, and Miss Boynton got a good look at his face. Later, shown a picture of Macias, she thought the picture fitted the man.

Today it was found that these men were not Sainz and Macias. The horse, bicycle and men were found in camp in the canyon, by Ben Nimmo.

To the Mountains

Knowing that Sainz and Macias may make for the mountains, which they know like a book, and desiring to cover every point, men were rushed to the hills early this morning in automobiles.

If Sainz and Macias have reached the foothills, they have an excellent chance of getting away free. There is a very good chance, of course, that they are still in hiding close in. Macias was raised in this vicinity, and for years worked at Modjeska's ranch. For years, Sainz has been smuggling Chinese from the Mexican border, and he knows every old Indian trail from here to Old Mexico. As a smuggler he traveled them at night, and he is not likely to travel them by day at this time.

Sheriff Lacy tells the story of the break as follows:

"It was about 1 o'clock I think when it happened. Miss Kerl had been holding services in the felony ward, and knocked on the door to be let out. The door is of heavy steel grating. I unlocked the door, which opens inward. At that time, though I did not see him, Sainz stood with his back to the wall near the door. Miss Kerl was shaking hands with Macias, who seemed to be telling her what a fine service they had had.

"I let the Mexican boy out first, and then Miss Kerl backed out. I had the door almost shut and was preparing to turn the key when Sainz grappled the door from the inside. I pulled hard, and tried to turn the key. Macias grabbed and pulled. I held the two for a few seconds. Then Sainz reached through and jerked the key-ring, breaking the key in the lock.

"I had called to Miss Kerl to lock the outer door, the one between the living-rooms and the jail part of the building.

"I held the door against them until I heard Miss Kerl slam the outside door and until I heard the key turn in the lock. I then thought they could not get out, for that door was locked. It never entered my head that she would unlock that door.

"The two men finally got the door open. I grabbed one of them, Macias, around the neck, and the other, Sainz, rushed out. I threw Macias on the floor. I yelled to Miss Kerl to run outside and call for help. She was trying to telephone. I guess she thought I was calling to her to help me.

"All the other prisoners stood back, made no attempt to help either side—all, except S. H. Overacker, under sentence for life for the murder of Winn. Overacker rushed up with his ear-trumpet. I thought he was going to hit me. Instead he called out: 'What can I do?'

"When Miss Kerl heard me call to her to go out and cry for help, she came out of the living-rooms, where she had been trying to telephone. At that same time Sainz yelled at her to open the door. Miss Kerl opened it. Sainz seized her and dragged her back to the felony ward, where I was struggling with Macias. Sainz struck me on the side of the head, and the two threw me off Macias, got out the door and locked it.

"Will Anderson, came over in a few minutes, and it was through him that the men got on the trail. Miss Kerl and I were freed about three-quarters of an hour after the men escaped.

"I found that they had taken two rifles and my revolver from the south living room. At first I thought they had taken a belt of rifle cartridges, but later that was proven untrue. The revolver was loaded, the rifles unloaded.

"The first report that came to me over the telephone was that Sainz and Macias had held up an automobile and had made the driver take them away. That report cost us the loss of the men. Instead of concentrating at the point where the pair was last seen, the men scattered, some of them going to Anaheim, Fullerton and El Modena, hunting that take auto."

W. W. Anderson of 116 Church street, said that he heard yells from the jail, given by a trusty, before he saw the escaped prisoners. Mrs. Anderson was in the front yard when Sainz, with the jail keys on his arm, and a rifle in his hands, which he took out of the scabbard, abandoned Miss Kerl's bicycle at the corner of Church and Sycamore, because Macias could not ride the boy's wheel. Sainz was in the lead. On seeing Mrs. Anderson he stepped back out of sight for a few seconds, and when Macias came up the two ran across toward the Baptist church corner and then to the corner of Eighth and Main, where J. J. Morse lives.

"I saw them stop at that corner and look around," said Mr. Anderson, "and I at first thought they were looking for someone. They went east on Eighth.

"Hearing yells at the jail, Dr. C. O. Fletcher, my neighbor, and I ran over. The sheriff was locked in. The receiver of the Sunset was off the hook hanging dead, where Miss Kerl had left it. After a time I got Marshal Edwards, and then an automobile and Deputy Sheriff Wilson, who got Clyde Walker to open John McFadden's hardware store for guns. Before that I notified Budge Lacy, who was in West Orange.

"Dr. Fletcher and I then set out to look for the keys. At Mr. Morse's place, we enlisted Mr. Morse, and he found them in the leaves under a peach tree in his back-yard. Sainz had thrown them over the fence as he went by."

Level Guns

L. H. Padgham, who lives at the northeast corner of Bush and Eighth streets, had an exciting experience with the desperados, which would have been more thrilling at the time had he known that they were in fact escaped prisoners, one a murderer, instead of ordinary bicycle thieves as he took them to be.

"I was eating dinner," said Mr. Padgham, "when I looked out the window and saw two Mexicans with rifles getting on bicycles, one belonging to me and one to my sister. I rattled on the window and shook my fist, and then ran out. I yelled. The tall fellow, Sainz, was on my sister's wheel and started. The other fellow seemed to be slower or less experienced on a bicycle. I ran out.

"The short fellow yelled out: 'We bring them back pretty quick!'" "Get off," I yelled. He waved his rifle at me. I thought it was all a bluff, for I had no idea that they would shoot just to steal a wheel. Anyhow, I was so mad at the nerve of them to steal a wheel under my eyes, that I grabbed at his wheel. Macias ran along the street and turned up Spurgeon, following Sainz, who was with on my sister's bicycle. Sainz left the bicycle at the curb when he saw Macias had no wheel. "I rode along behind them on my bicycle. They aimed their rifles at me a dozen times, all told. Once I thought that the short fellow was going to shoot. He had a long revolver. He threw it down on me. It was right square at me, and if it had been fired it couldn't have helped hitting me.

"The fellow yelled: 'Damn you, go back. I get you.'

"I followed along out to Washington avenue, hoping all the time I would find someone to help me. I wanted to get those fellows for stealing bicycles.

"At the northwest corner of French and Washington they picked up two bicycles belonging to the Opp boys. I ran up the steps and asked if they had a telephone. They said no, but would go next door. I told them to phone the marshal and I would watch the men.

"I followed up on my bicycle, and got a rock in my hands. By this time I was certain they would not shoot. I was about seventy-five feet away and yelled I would throw the rock.

"They evidently could not threaten with their firearms while riding bicycles, else they concluded to take to the walnut orchard the other side of the Southern Pacific tracks. They went that way. I was going out C street to watch them, but my bicycle chain got out of whack, and I had to walk. A Spanish boy told me he had seen the men go to a green house at 1322 C street. I went into W. H. Deamud's house at 1315 C street, to fix my chain. I asked Mr. Deamud to look out, but he saw nothing further of them."

Miss Kerl's Story

"I had stepped through the ward door," said Miss Kerl of 616 Van Ness avenue, missionary among the Spanish, "when I heard Mr. Lacy say: 'How are you today?' I started to reply when I saw the struggle begin. I ran out immediately through the circular door and through the outer jail door. I found the key in the door. I turned it. Then, my thought was that there was a mutiny, and they would kill the sheriff if they could not get out. I thought it better to let the prisoners out than for Mr. Lacy to be killed. So I unlocked the door.

"I ran to the Sunset telephone. While I was waiting for central, one of the men grabbed me around the arms and shoved me into a corner. His face had changed greatly since the services. He was snarling and fierce. I thought I could make a quick run, and get out. I ran by him, but he seized me just at the door leading outside. He pinned my arms and shoved me through the outer barred door, striking my arm hard against the door, through the circular door and then through the ward door. He gave me a hard rough shove to get me by the two struggling men, and then I saw him strike Mr. Lacy. They jerked the door shut and locked it. I stood by the grated door and saw the short man go to the right and the tall man to the left, into the living rooms. The short man came out with the rifles. The two then ran out.

"Little Willie Rice, or Rios, as it is in Spanish, was outside waiting to see what would happen. The men took the bicycles, mine and Willie's. Willie said they looked like 'wild lions.'"

Macias Discouraged

That Sainz was the leader and Macias the led, seems indicated by the story told by Neoma Elstein, aged 6, a bright-eyed, clear-speaking little girl, daughter of a woman who is rooming at Miss Kerl's house.

Neoma sat on the curb in front of the manual training building on Church street, half a block from the jail.

"I was waiting for my mother when I saw two men run out of the jail," said little Neoma. "They got on bicycles and came toward me. One of them couldn't ride very well. Then the one in front got off his bicycle near the corner, and left it, and I saw by the rack on the bicycle that it was Miss Kerl's. I heard a rattle like a chain. I guess it was keys.

"The tall man went over to the sidewalk across the street from me, and met the short man. The short man left his bicycle further back. The short man seemed to want to stop. He kind of hung back. The tall man took him by the shoulder, and I thought he kind of pulled him. Then I saw one of them look at what I thought was a pistol, and then the two ran on together.

"There was a white silk handkerchief around the neck of one of the men. This blew off and it fell to the ground."

Had No Attorney

The fact that Sainz had no attorney may have induced him to take the chance at escape. Saturday morning Attorney Rutan informed Judge West that the firm of Williams & Rutan had withdrawn as attorneys for Sainz, no fee having been raised, and the district attorney expected to have
